Three Favorites and Three Outsiders Score Brackets.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune]

Washington, Nov. 18.-Three favorites and three outsiders was the record here for the third day of the Washington Jockey Club meeting. Filp Flap had no trouble in taking the Grand Consolation from Disobedient. Monterey, at good odds, took the third money. Almost a dead heat was run in the fifth race, Race King nosing out Merry England for first position. Woolgatherer, the steeplechase campaigner, was beaten by Expansionist through the good riding of E. Heider.

Shaw put up a clever ride on Flip Flap, bringing the filly home two lengths in front of John Duffy's good colt Disobedient. Arklita made the early pace, but soon tired, being hard pressed by Disobedient and Pater. In the homestretch Flip Flap gained steadily and won with plenty Another feature race was the fourth Bladensburg Steeplechase, for four-year-olds and over, at a distance of about two miles. This event was won by C. H. Hurkamp's chestnut gelding Expansionist, a 3 to 1 choice. It was a two horse race between Woolgatherer and the winner, which won driving by half a length. Thomas Hitchcock's Tom Cogan, at 16 to 5, ran third.

In the first race Jack McKeon, at the long price of 20 to 1, won in a romp from Fleur de Marie and Thistle Heather, which finished third. Helreson waited with Jack McKeon till the stretch was reached and then shook him up cleverly, winning from the others.

Senator Timothy D. Sullivan was a spectator, but appeared to be in poor health and left for New-York after the fifth race. Race King, the horse that ran a dead heat with Sysonby this summer, won the fifth in a close finish from the old campaigner, Merry England. St. Valentine finished a good third.

Louis H., at 4 to 1, won the sixth race, at a mile and a sixteenth, from Peter Paul and Sailor Boy. Louis H. won galloping after being left behind in the early stages of the race. The crowd was large and the track fast.

BENVOLIO WINS FOUR-MILE RACE.

Nashville, Nov. 18.-The four-mile race, the En durance Stakes, the feature of the card at Cumber-fand Park to-day, was easy for Benvolio, the favorite. He won pulled up, with the others strung out far behind. In the third event, a handicap at one mile, Princess Orna won. Weather fine; track fast

FLIP FLAP'S CONSOLATION. RECORD FOR VALENTINE

WINS BENNINGS FEATURE. Makes New Mark for 1,000 Yards at Regimental Games.

The twenty-seventh games of the 23d Regiment Athletic Association were held at the armory last night, and were witnessed by 5,000 persons. In the half-mile run handicap Howard Valentine, of Company H, attempted to lower the record for a half mile, held by himself, but failed by one-fifth of a second. He then went for the 1,000-yard record, and succeeded, breaking it by 21% seconds. In the one mile interregimental relay race, the nd of the round robin series between the 13th, 22d and 23d regiments, the 13th won by a quarter of a lap, in 3 minutes and 34% seconds.

Cohn took the lead at the start, and held it for half mile, when he retired in favor of Spring. He took the lead again at the end of a mile, and thereafter was never headed, winning from H. N. Basson, Young Men's League, in 15 minutes 30% seconds. W. G. Frank, Irish-American Athletic Association, was third.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Staten Island Players Too Much for Columbia Experts.

Columbia's team of association football players paid his first visit to Staten Island yesterday afternoon as the guests of the Staten Island Cricket, Tennis and Pootball Club at the Cove, Livingston where the college boys suffered defeat to the tune of 4 goals to 2. The ground was in excellent condition for the game, and a large number of spectators was present.

James Gordon, of the Hustler Field Club, lined out the teams soon after 3 o'clock. Staten Island was represented by its full strength, but Columbla was short a couple of regular players.

In the second half Kellington, who was playing a brilliant game on the outside left, sprained a muscle of his right leg, which prevented him from further participating in the game.

The strength of the States Island team was in the combination of the forward line. Smith, at centre half, filled the bill to perfection. Mundt, at fullback, gave a fine exhibition of defensive play, and will no doubt earn a place on future international elevens. The line-up:

CROWDS WATCH "SOCKER."

Patersons and Thistles Win Matches in League Struggle.

Two of the games in the championship series of the Metropolitan Association Football League, wherein the Hollywood Inn and Paterson Ranger teams hold the lead, were contested at the Prospect Park Parade Grounds in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. The opposing sides were the Brooklyn Football Club and the Patersons, and the Brooklyn Thistles and Hollywood Inn. of Yonkers. A big crowd watched the two games, and the presence of the leaders in the competition lent additional excitement to the encounters.

The one which attracted the most attention was that between the Brooklyns and Patersons. that between the Brooklyns and Patersons. The game throughout was fast, and brilliant plays were the order. The Patersons brought a powerful team to Brooklyn, and after a well contested game managed to secure the victory by 8 goals to 1.

The home team played an unusually fine game, and McNelli. Stewart and Rydberg were conspicuous. For the visitors Percy, Latchford and Murray all distinguished themselves.

The newly organized Thistle Football Club, of Brooklyn, defeated the team of the Hollywood Inn Club. The Brooklynites were out in full strength, as they expected a hard game, while Hollywood was short several reliable men. Nielsson and Halladay, on the forward line, scored two goals each for the Thistles, while Ovens, Jacobs and Hill tailied for Hollywood Inn, the home team winning by 4 goals to 2.

The champion Caledonians met the Bronx Rangers in the fourth pound of the larger series and by 4 goals to 3.

The champion Caledonians met the Bronx Rangers in the fourth round of the league series, and suffered defeat by the score of 2 goals to 1, which in no way represented the comparative merits of the teams. The winners scored through Dale and Caldwell, who managed to get the ball under the bar by a long shot. Tait tailled the only goal for the champions by a clever shot.

JUST A ROMP FOR TRAVIS. | SEASON'S GOLF RECURD.

WINS AT ATLANTIC CITY. H. C. EGAN HEADS LIST.

Veteran Golfer Beats F. Oden Horstman by 6 and 5-Other Results.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 18.—Another open golf tournament has been decided, and once again the of Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, heads the list. In the final round on the links of the Country Club of Atlantic City to-day Travis defeated F. Oden Horstman, of Philadelphia, by 6 up and 5 to play.

The one sided nature of the score was not because of any poor golf on the part of Horstman, but rather due to the exceptional work of the winner. Time and again, when Travis would fall a triffe short of the green or only make the edge on his approach, he would recover beautifully. After going out in 37 the veteran struck a rare clip, coming home in 35.

This 72 would have become a new course record had not Travis failed to put out on the ninth green after getting nicely home in 2. Horstman's second shot found the bunker, and, after wasting two strokes in the hazard, he picked up. Travis did not bother to put out A large gallery followed the finalists, golfers being there from many distant points. Horstman's friends, and they were numerous, "rooted" for him, but he never had a chance. The first hole went to Travis in 4, though he had his luck with him at the next, his second shot jumping the bunker. Practically the only mistakes Travis made were a couple of short puts, which failed to drop, the first on the fourth green, when he should have had a 3. Again at the eighth Travis missed a wee one, giv-ing Horstman an opportunity to win his first and only hole of the match. The first bit of golf out of the ordinary was a 5 by Travis at the 549-yard fifth hole. After topping his second shot, the former champion played short of the bunker with an iron, while Horstman got home on the like. Taking his trusty old mashle, which in his hands has been instrumental in the downfall scores of golfers on both sides of the Atlantic, Travis laid his approach dead, and won the hole in , Horstman taking 3 puts.

Coming home, Travis had an excellent start, gettings as at the tenth and eleventh holes. The 4 at the 505-yard twelfth was exceptional, and due to one of his deadly puts, which was run down from the edge of the green. Travis kept up the brilliant work by laying a full iron shot within a club's length of the next hole, and getting down his put

Nothing in human form could stand against that kind of golf, so it was not surprising that the hole just described settled Hortsman. Playing out the bye holes, Travis made no slips, though Horstman got a grain of comfort by winning the 412-yard home hole in 4. The cards:

W. J. Travis and J. D. Travers Come Next with Fine Records.

With another competitive golfing season all but ver, it is possible to give the prominent amateurs a rating for 1905. In endeavoring to properly classify the leaders it is essential to note especially the achievements over so-called standard courses as well as the quality of the fields in which the successes were attained. The winning of a champlonship does not necessarily imply that the title holder is the best golfer. A case in point was the win of Louis N. James in the national tournament at Glenview in 1902.

This year, however, there can be no reasonable excuse for not placing H. Chandler Egan at the head of the list. He is as deserving of the place as was Walter J. Travis in previous years. While dwelling on the champion it will be interesting to glance at his record. During the last year he played in eighteen matches, won seventeen and lost one. His trip abroad in the spring and the ement of a business career in the early fall combined to make this season considerably shorter than that of 1903.

In a way history has repeated itself with H. Chandler Egan, in that the strain of three important tournaments-Onwentsia, the Western cham tionship and the national championship-following in rapid succession, made him a loser at Exmoor, where in 1904 Bruce Smith defeated him on the twenty-first green, while this year Egan finished 3 down to E. E. Giles. The champion showed his class immediately afterward by winning a one-club competition, doing the Exmoor course in 79, using Egan's form permits only of praise. He drives a long ball and plays his frons beautifully, his recoveries from trouble marking the most brilliant part of his game. There are those who claim that Egan's wild driving at times would cause his downfall on many of the famous links abroad, but that's another story, as there is no telling what he might do on the classic courses of Great Britain when put to the test. Let it suffice that he has won almost everything in which he took part this year-a worthy record for a champion. Here it is:

Ravinoaks Cup—Beat A. C. Perry, 7 up; beat K. P. Bdwards, 2 up; beat W. J. Howland, 9 up; beat Mason Pheips, 7 up.
Western—Beat H. T. Cole, 5 up; beat Warren Wood, 8 up; beat R. E. Hunter, 8 up; beat R. B. Martin, 4 up; beat R. D. Bokum, 2 up; beat Waiter Egan, 3 up.
National—Beat Charles B. Macdonald, 2 up; beat Dr. Simon Carr, 3 up; beat Pred Herreshoff, 2 up; beat Hardled Wester, 3 up; beat Dr. Sawper, 6 up.
Exmoor—Beat Bruce Smith, 3 up; lost to B. E. Giles, 3 down.

In selecting the second best golfer there is little or nothing to choose between Walter J. Travis and Jerome D. Travers on tournament play in the last season. Therefore, in naming Travis ahead of the Nassau boy, the move is prompted by former deeds of greatness, rather than by present day form. Even though shorn of his championship title. Travis has gathered in his share of the spoils this season. He began his 1906 campaign by cleaning up a good field of players in an important tourney at Pinehurst last winter and followed this with some exceptional low scoring "stunts" during a brief stay at Bermuda.

His metropolitan district debut was less au-spicious, as the veteran lost to W. C. Chick in the spring tourney at Lakewood. Travis squared accounts shortly afterward by beating Chick in the Garden City tournament. At Fox Hills Travis went a triffe off his game and mot with a crushing defeat in the second round of the Metropoli tan Golf Association championship at the hands of Travers. Later on he defeated Travers at Westbrook and Shinnecock, only to lose again to the boy at Nassau. In the national championship at Wheaton Travis lost to W. C. Fownes, jr.

The title of "golfing machine," given to Travis long ago because of his remarkable steadiness, was less applicable this year. For instance, on the first day of the tri-city match at Garden City last month Travis returned an exceptional 72, yet the following afternoon his game fell off fully the following afternoon his game fell off fully half a stroke a hole. Even though reverses have come to Travis more frequently this year than in former seasons his record is a most enviable one. Travers easily takes third place in the ranking. He started indifferently in the spring by losing in the interscholastic championship, and he also lost in the metropolitan to George T. Brokaw after having disposed of Travis. Another setback for the Nassau player was in the national championship, when he lost to Eben M. Byers. In the open tourneys at Englewood, Westbrook and Shinnecock, Travers was the runner-up, but he won at Knoilwood. Deal, Apawamis and Nassau, besides leading all the amateurs in the Metropolitan Golf Association open championship at Fox Hills in September.

knollwood. Deal, Apawamis and Nassau, besides leading all the amateurs in the Metropolitan Goif Association open championship at Fox Hills in September.

In a majority of the open tourneys in which he competed, Travers carried off low score honors in the qualifying rounds. He also proved a consistent winner in the tri-city matches. In ten tournaments Travers won four and was runner-up in three others, besides breaking even with Travis in four encounters. These are exclusive of the occasion when he figured against Travis in a four-ball match at Nassau. In that thirty-six hole match Travers returned a score of 140, good enough to place the veteran something like 16 down at the finish. Travers holds the amateur record at Nassau, 53.

A. G. Lockwood seems entitled to fourth place. In addition to winning the Massachusetts championship and missing the open title by the narrow margin of a stroke, the Briton has shown exceptional form on numerous other occasions this season, notably in the last round of the national open championship, at Myopia, when he recied off a 75.

While Findlay S. Douglas did comparatively little tournament playing this year, he cannot well be rated worse than fifth. In the tri-city matches, last month, he defeated his opponents quite easily, and later won his ciub championship at Nassau for the first cups in the vicinity of Pittsburg, to say nothing of Atlantic City, is capable of fitting in at No. 5, while Walter E. Egan, runner-up to H. C. Egan in the Western championship and winner of the Lakewood spring tourney, is a good seventh. Dr. D. P. Fredericks comes next. He displayed good form at the amateur championship, leading the field in the qualifying round, with its. He also made 15 in the team match the day before. Dwight Partridge, the interscholastic champion and Great Barrington winner, looks well at No. 9, while Eben M. Byers, partially for his occasional flashes of brilliancy and partially for his occasional flashes of brilliancy and partially for sold time's sake, should come next.

MICHIGAN WHIPS BADGERS

Wins Fiercest Football Match Ever Seen at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 18.-Michigan's football eleven defeated Wisconsin on Ferry Field this afternoon 12 to 9, scoring one touchdown in each half. The first touchdown was almost a replica of the play which gave Minnesota its first touchdown against Wisconsin at Minneapolis two weeks ago. Meizner fumbling a punt and Michigan getting the ball on Wisconsin's 4-yard line. It took the third down to get the necessary four yards.

The touchdown in the second half followed a march straight down the field for eighty yards, Michigan taking the ball from the 30-yard line after an exchange of punts, and never once losing it until finany Longman was shoved over the Wisconsin goal line In point of desperate defence and equally desperate and more successful attack the series of plays which resulted in Michigan's second touchdown has not been seen on Ferry Field in many years. Most of these plays were directed against Wisconsin's right side, and Deering, who sustained the brunt of them, fairly reeled from exhaustion by the time Wisconsin's 15-yard line had been reached. Throughout the game Wisconsin could not gain consistently against Michigan's heavy line. Melzconsistency against Michigan's heavy line. Melz-ner tried a drop klok whenever the ball was far enough into Michigan territory to carry with the attempt any hope of success. Wisconsin's ends outplayed the Michigan men. It was in the lines from tackle to tackle that the desperate play took place, and so flerce was this for a time that after nearly every down one or more men would be laid out.

nearly every down one or more men would be laid out.

Both teams fumbled badly. Six times the Michigan backs dropped the ball, either in a scrimmage or on a punt, while Wisconsin was guilty of this offence four times, the fumble by Melzner in the first half being fatal. Wisconsin played the game out without a substitute, although Deering. Roseth and Bertke were cut and bleeding before the game had propressed fifteen minutes. Michigan used two substitutes, Barlow taking Norcross's place at quarter in the second half and Clark going in for Weeks.

To-day's victory by Michigan brings this year's struggle for the Western championship down to Michigan and Chicago, as Minnesota, the only other tram that looked strong enough to contend for the honor, has already been defeated by Wisconsin The game in Chicago on Thanksgiving Day, therefore, will settle decisively which team shall hold this coveted honor.
